KOEMAN'S DREAM

Saints boss is hoping for a win over Chelsea but warns his side: ifs count for nothing

RONALD Koeman says Saints are already dreaming ahead of facing Premier League leaders Chelsea, but has reminded the club that 'ifs' count for nothing.

Saints have lifted themselves back up to fourth place in the table ahead of the visit of Jose Mourinho's league leaders to St Mary's on Sunday.

It is a remarkable position for Saints to find themselves in as they approach the halfway point of the season.

Koeman was asked whether victory over Chelsea would allow Saints to dream as to just where they might finish this campaign.

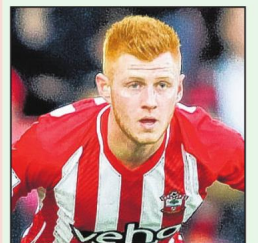

The Saints manager said he already was to a certain extent, but that you get nothing for wondering.

"It will be if' but 'if' doesn't count in football. It doesn't count in life," he insisted.

Koeman has a dream...

"We are a little bit dreaming because we are in a good position in the league now.

"We had a difficult time after some defeats and we are winning back now two games in a row and that's important, game by game and to do our best and to do what we like to do which is playing football, and to play attractive, offensive football and go for it.

"That means in every game, that's not because our opponent is called Chelsea or Man City."

Koeman has gone with three at the back for the last two games and it has worked a treat as Saints have recorded victories over Everton and Crystal Palace.

Some teams have tried to change their system or style of play in a bid to contain Mourinho's men, but that is not something Koeman will be trying.

"We go for it, that's football," he said defiantly. "If you don't go for it stay home.

Jose Fonte is back after a one-match ban

"I believe in our way of playing and not to change system or players, no.

"We try to do it on our way."

Koeman will be boosted by the return of captain Jose Fonte, who sat out the win over his former club Palace serving a one game ban.

However, Ryan Bertrand, one of the goalscorers at Selhurst Park who is on loan from Chelsea, is ineligible to face his parent club.

Saints though are getting players back at the right time and Koeman is confident that he can change things around if he needs to.

"We know our programme, it's tough, and we need all the players," he said.

"You can't play with 11 players for two games in 48 hours and you have to make some changes and we have that kind of players that we can change the team and we keep the quality."

TIME TO REED

Harrison's impressive Saints debut was a special moment

AS FAR as full Premier League debuts go, there can't have been many more impressive than Harrison Reed's.

The 19-year-old midfielder received his first top-flight start when he was named in the line-up for last Saturday's home game against Everton, turning in a dynamic and tenacious display in the 3-0 win.

For the Worthing-born youngster, who has been with Saints since the age of seven, it was a moment to treasure.

"It was a really special day for me, and also my family up in the stands," he said.

"It was a day I had been waiting for.

"Obviously, I made my first-team debut last year against Barnsley and then in the Premier League against Man City, so I've been waiting patiently for my first start, and it came on a really good day for me and the team."

NERVES

Watching Reed's display, and subsequently listening to him speak so confidently and eloquently, it is hard to imagine he would have been overcome by nerves ahead of the game.

But the youngster admitted there were a few uneasy moments.

"I was really nervous, but really excited at the same time, to be walking out the St Mary's tunnel for the first time, in front of a full house," he said.

"I knew it was going to be a really special moment for me, and it was one I was looking forward to.

"I sort of thought I'd be starting on the Friday, because we ran the set-plays and team shape, so the nerves set in a little bit then.

"I went home and told my parents, and throughout that night there were thoughts coming into my head about the different situations I could be facing in the game, the opponents.

"I had a good night's sleep and then I woke up in the morning feeling a bit sick with nerves.

"I went to the ground, and to get around the boys really sort of settled me down a little bit.

"A few of them spoke to me about sort of what to expect and how they wanted me to play.

"I was fine up until we came in after the warm-up when the nerves really, really set in then.

"Sort of walking to the tunnel, walking out the St Mary's tunnel was amazing. To get my first touch straight away settled me down really well."

Reed added: "All the coaches spoke to me and settled me down, gave me advice, so I knew exactly what I was expected to do.

"The senior boys, Jose [Fonte], the captain, put his arm round me before the game and said 'You don't have to prove anything. All the boys know what you're capable of doing. Just go out there and play your normal game,' so that was really reassuring."

Reed's mum and dad were both in the stands to watch him play, along with his brother and some of his friends.

"I had ten tickets for the game, so I had all my family there and a few friends, which was really important to me," he said.

"It was really pleasing to have them there to speak to them after and see the smiles on their faces. It really meant a lot to me."

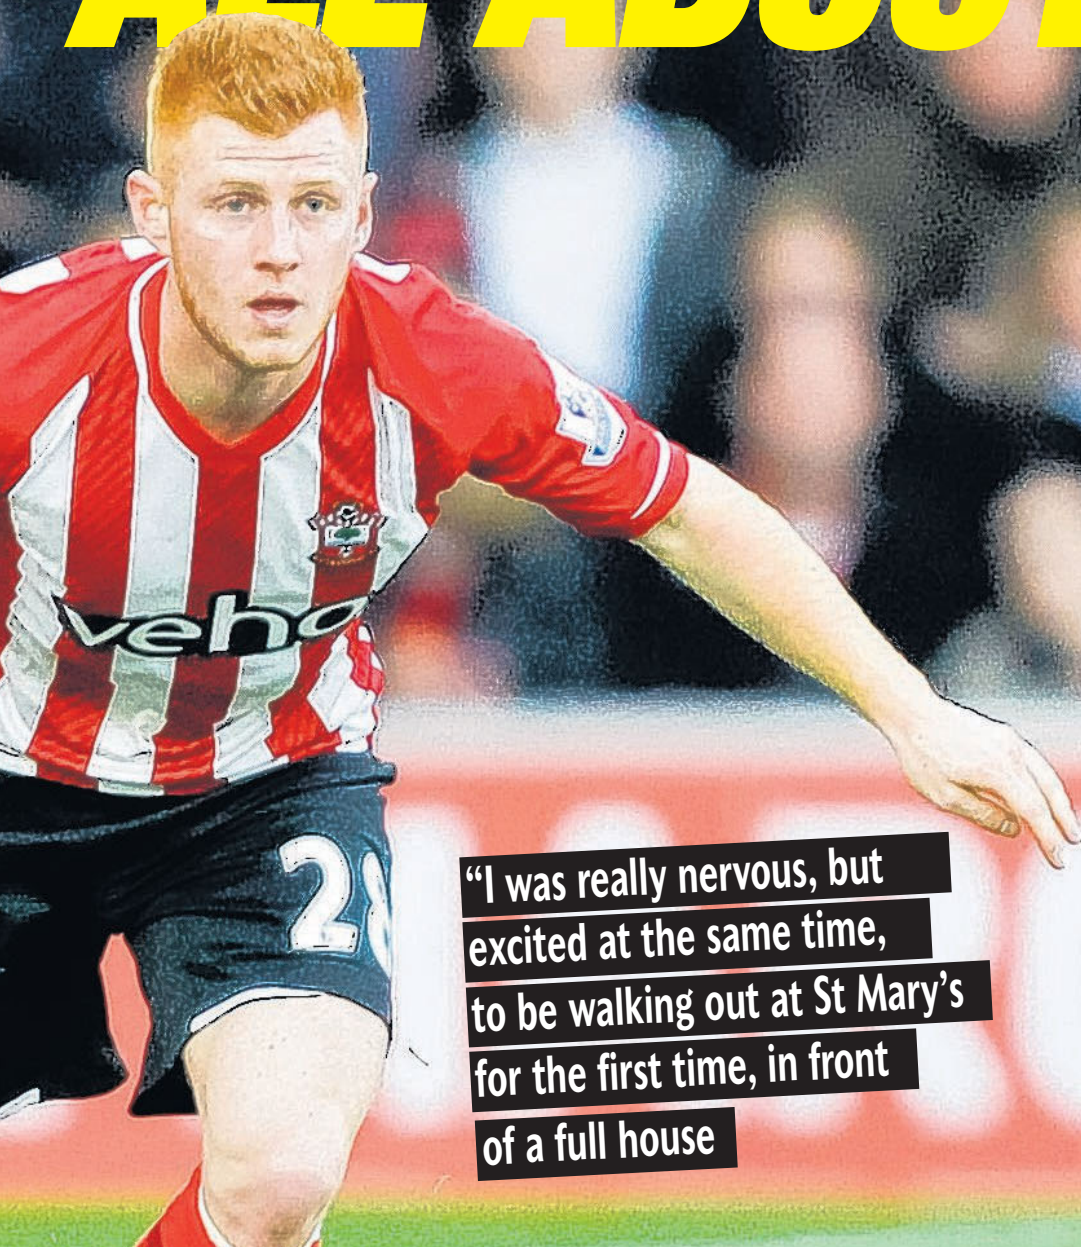

They were all no doubt rightly proud about the role Reed played in what was a fine all-round team performance, and the teenage ace was delighted to be able to reflect on a positive result and display,

ALL ABOUT IT

"I was really nervous, but excited at the same time, to be walking out at St Mary's for the first time, in front of a full house" which snapped the side's five-game losing streak.

"We've started the season very well," he said. "We've had a little bit of a blip, but we know we're confident in the way we play, and we know we can push for a really good season this year – something special."

"Every player was fantastic on Saturday. The defence, the keeper, the midfield, the attackers – the way that everyone played and worked together was really important I think."

It is clear from what has been seen of Reed so far that he has received a fine grounding in the academy.

Recalling how he came to be picked up by Saints as a seven-year-old, he said: "I was at Arsenal. I went on trial at Arsenal and, at that age, the distance is too much to travel, so they put me in contact with Southampton."

"I came down here for a trial and they offered me a place in the academy."

"Obviously, that was with Prowsey (James Ward-Prowse), Gapey (Dominic Gape, who came on on Saturday, Calum [Chambers], Sam McQueen – we all rose up from under-eights together really."

Reed, who shared a place with Chambers when the full-back was at the club, also believes that progressing alongside a number of his friends has made the transition from youth to first-team an easier one.

"Obviously, we've had a few boys come up and leave, but I could speak to Prowsey before the game and the few days leading up to it," said Reed, who signed a new four-year contract last summer.

"He was speaking to me about how he dealt with stuff, and the way that I've been in and around the squad, been on the bench, made a few appearances, has helped me as well.

"To be in and around the first-team, training with them every day, I don't think I could have played with the confidence I did if I hadn't had that."

Reed added: "Last year we had Calum, Luke, Prowsey, Sam Gallagher as well, and all of them, so when I went up to train with the first-team I had a few familiar faces and that really helped me to just get my head down, concentrate and just play my normal way."

"Obviously, living with Calum when he made his Premier League debut, I could speak to him about that, and when he had his good games, when he had his bad games, I could sort of reflect with him."

"He listened to me and I listened to him, so we had a good relationship, and that really worked and helped me."

But what else is it about the academy that makes it so good at producing young players who are ready for first-team action.

"I think it's just the way that the coaches deal with us at a young age," said Reed.

FAMILY CLUB

"Obviously, being in the same facility as the first-team, sometimes seeing the first-team players around when you're younger, it's really good."

"It's like a family club. You don't think that they're too far away from you."

"I think that's massive, like when you're in the under-18s, under-16s that you can actually see the pathway to the first-team and that gives you real belief."

"When you're walking around you can ask for advice, because all the first-team players are so friendly and are willing to give you advice."

"When you're young and you need the advice, coaches can put you in contact with the first-team players, who don't mind speaking to you, so that really helps."

Having had his first serious taste of Premier League action, Reed is hoping he can now help Saints in what is another challenging run of fixtures against some of the division's elite sides.

"We've got a few big games coming up against top-four teams, so we're looking to pick up as many points as possible in this period, because we know how big it is in terms of where you end up when it comes to May, at the end of the season, so we'll be looking to concentrate, play our football and focus on picking up some points over this Christmas period," he said.

BOOK of the WEEK

GUY MARTIN: MY AUTOBIOGRAPHY
By Guy Martin

Sports book of the month
price: £9.00 saving 31% on rrp

Guy Martin's autobiography has been one of the year's sporting phenomena, selling in incredible numbers, thanks in part to his television appearances, but also to his engaging, boy-next-door persona.

In many respects, his apparent devil-may-care attitude is one most of us lose once burdened with the increasingly heavy responsibilities of family, work, mortgage and so on, which perhaps explains why we enjoy reading about a man who avoids conformity.

And this book, like much else that Martin presents to the public on TV and in his two other books, is non-conformist, opinionated, compelling and often very, very funny.

It's possible that readers will return to some passages and wonder whether this star of the Isle of Man TT races meant to re-emphasise a point he's already made. Is he being pedantic or simply trying to fill up the page?

An example: he details every bend, straight and corner (with speeds) from a road race in Ulster and goes on to explain that the location known as 'The Hole In The Wall' is so named because, well, "there's a wall with a hole in it."

Yet his straight-talking, come-day, go-day manner successfully disguises the amount of hard work Martin undertakes to ensure that whenever he straddles a high-performance motorbike, he's taken as much risk out of propelling it at 170mph as he possibly can. He may come across as a man still in possession of a youthful, devil-may-care attitude, but there's an awful lot of precision to Guy Martin as this excellent read makes abundantly clear.

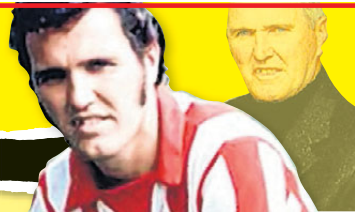

● We've teamed up with Sports Book of the Month & have a copy of Guy Martin's autobiography to give away.

To win this fantastic prize, go to their website (www.sports-bookofthemonth.com) and answer the following question: In what year did the Isle of Man TT begin?

The Saints legend's EXCLUSIVE column on all things football

UNITED BY OUR LOVE OF THE GAME

WELL MATCHED: A British Army officer, right, and a German Armed Forces officer, dressed in World War One uniforms, watch the soccer match between their teams in Aldershot earlier this month to mark the Christmas Day truce 100 years ago when rival WWI troops stopped fighting, left the trenches and are said to have played football instead.

CHRISTMAS is a very special time of year.

It is a time where loved ones come together, share gifts, sing carols, and warm themselves next to open fires, before indulging in a feast and falling asleep in front of the latest Doctor Who or Downtown Abbey special.

To the football fan in particular, the Christmas period 'tis the season to be jolly, with each club playing a game once nearly every three days in what is a veritable feast of action.

December can be a trying month for even the most prepared managers.

The seemingly never-ending run of games can present all kinds of hurdles to overcome.

A succession of quick injuries that highlights a squad's lack of depth, an international superstar showing unwillingness to play in the cold and wet of an English winter, a passing game that can come undone by a frozen pitch – these are just a few scenarios that can lead to the regular managerial shake-up prior to the January transfer window.

A run of games can see a side race away at the top, or get worryingly left behind at the bottom.

Whatever the case, it is always great entertainment.

But it is a good time to remember that football's relationship with Christmas means far more than just that.

It takes us back 100 years to World War One, and Christmas Eve of 1914, when the "Christmas Truce" – or "Weihnachtsfrieden" – took place.

As I'm sure you know, this was a series of widespread, unofficial ceasefires between British and German soldiers fighting along the Western Front.

"Stille Nacht. Heilige Nacht. Alles Schläft, einsam wacht," was the message being sung from the German trench.

Despite the unfamiliar lyrics, the haunting "Silent Night" tune was unmistakable.

At the song's finale, a lone German soldier appeared, in his hand a small tree, glowing with light.

"Merry Christmas, we not shoot, you not shoot" was his cry.

After messages were exchanged across "no man's land", British and German soldiers met in the area between the two enemy trench systems and exchanged gifts and souvenirs, took photographs, and performed joint burial ceremonies for the fallen.

Then, in what is one of the truce's most enduring images, troops from both sides temporarily set aside their differences to play a game of football.

Some officers viewed the truce as an opportunity to improve living conditions and morale in the trenches, although others felt it would undermine the fighting spirit.

The truce remained a unique event on the Western Front, as the high commands of both sides took measures to ensure such "fraternisation" would not occur again.

A hundred years later, Prince William acknowledged: "We all grew up with the story of soldiers from both sides putting down their arms on Christmas Day, and it remains wholly relevant today as a message of hope over adversity, even in the bleakest of times."

"It promises to be a powerful way to engage and educate young people about such an important moment in history."

The compelling story highlights how sport, and football in particular, is a global language that can bring people of different backgrounds and beliefs together.

It has continued to play an important role in Christmas festivities over the years.

It has been 55 years since the last football game was played on Christmas Day in England, but the following day, "Boxing Day", is one of just three days where every Premier League team plays – the other two being New Year's Day and the final day of the season.

It is a chance for the English top-flight to truly dominate global football coverage, as well as draw in bumper crowds that can result in millions in revenue for the clubs on a special day for fans across the world.

Did You Know?

On this day:

1949: A record 1,269,934 were in attendance for the Football League programme – an average of 28,862 spectators at each game. The previous record had stood for only 24 hours, 1,226,098 having turned up for the Boxing Day fixtures.

1980: Birmingham goalkeeper Tony Coton saved a penalty 90 seconds into his debut in a 3-2 win over Sunderland.

1982: National Hunt trainer Michael Dickinson saddled a record 12 winners in one day's racing around the country.

2002: Australia opener Justin Langer scored 250, hitting 30 fours and a six, as Australia amassed 551 for six declared in the first innings of the fourth Test against England in Melbourne.

2003: England centre Mike Tindall suffered a broken leg in Bath's win at Saracens.

2008: Sunderland handed Ricky Sbragia, their caretaker boss at the time, an 18-month contract as manager. He resigned at the end of the season.

2012: Henning Berg was sacked as manager of Blackburn after less than eight weeks in charge of the npower Championship club.

2013: Malky Mackay was dismissed as manager of Cardiff, a week after owner Vincent Tan sent him an email demanding he resign or be sacked.

Bertrand must sit out Chelsea clash

On-loan Saints full-back Ryan Bertrand is ineligible to face parent club Chelsea, but manager Ronald Koeman can call upon captain Jose Fonte.

Matthew Targett is likely to come in for Bertrand at left-back on Sunday, when Saints skipper Fonte is likely to return whether the manager keeps with the 3-5-2 formation or not.

Shane Long, Dusan Tadic and Victor Wanyama could come in after starting from the bench in the Boxing Day win at Crystal Palace, but Jay Rodriguez (cruciate ligament), Sam Gallagher (knee) and Jack Cork (knock) remain out.

Provisional squad: Forster, K Davis, Gazzaniga, Clyne, Targett, Alderweireld, Gardos, Fonte, Yoshida, McCarthy, S Davis, Gape, Hesketh, Schneiderlin, Ward-Prowse, Tadic, Wanyama, Reed, Mane, Isgrrove, McQueen, Mayuka, Long, Pelle, Seager.

INELIGIBLE: On-loan Saint Ryan Bertrand

Chelsea focused on facing Saints

CHELSEA'S Nemanja Matic says his club's focus is on the here and now ahead of tomorrow's trip to Southampton, where Chelsea will bid to finish 2014 on a high and begin 2015 on top of the Barclays Premier League.

"We are focused always on the next game," Matic said. "We look at this like a new challenge, like a new opportunity to show our quality and we will continue like this."

"We had some stretches in the dressing room (after the West Ham win) and we are already focused on Southampton."

"We will try to prepare ourselves for that game and I hope we will continue to win."

Jose Mourinho has no injury concerns or suspensions, but must determine how best to utilise his squad with matches against Tottenham and Watford, in the FA Cup, in the following seven days.

"They are good. They are strong. They are human," Mourinho told Chelsea TV.

"We have to try to find this balance between the good condition they have and the human side of it. Everyone will be a bit tired, but at the same time smiling."

PILING ON THE PRESSURE: Southampton's Toby Alderweireld heads in his sides third goal in yesterday's win over Crystal Palace

Warnock pays the price for Southampton defeat

NEIL Warnock has become the Premier League's first managerial casualty of the season, with Crystal Palace sacking him this morning, just hours after his team lost 3-1 at home to Saints.

The 66-year-old only started a second spell at Selhurst Park on August 27, but has failed to carry on the stellar work done by predecessor Tony Pulis.

Pulis walked out ahead of the season after pulling off a great escape during the last campaign, but Warnock (pictured) – despite a memorable win over Liverpool – has not got things going, and leaves Palace with the club in the relegation zone on 15 points.

"Crystal Palace Football Club can today confirm that Neil Warnock has been relieved of his duties and is no longer first-team manager," said a statement on the club's official website.

"The club would like to put on record its thanks to Neil for all his hard work and energy over the past four months.

"Keith Millen will lead the team against Queens Park Rangers tomorrow as caretaker manager."

Warnock appeared to be showing the strain after Friday's 3-1 loss to Southampton, bemoaning his side's lack of luck after listening to the club's fans singing "you don't know what you're doing".

"I thought they had a lot of luck last year – I don't see us having much luck this year," he said.

Palace co-chairman Steve Parish told the South London Press: "It just didn't gel. It didn't work. Keith is probably in charge for the next two games."

"We need a win. QPR is no bigger than any other but we need three points."

"Neil is a lovely bloke. He did everything he could."

"It's an unfortunate decision. I thought about it overnight and decided we needed a change. Hopefully we'll get a reaction from everybody."

Who's in line for Palace job?

Tim Sherwood

The former Tottenham boss was swiftly installed as the bookmakers' favourite to replace Warnock. Sherwood was interviewed for the job in August after Tony Pulis' shock exit, but ruled himself out after the process dragged on.

Tony Popovic

The former Australia international has strong ties with the Eagles, having played for the club for five seasons before returning in 2011 as part of Dougie Freedman's backroom set-up. Popovic has a burgeoning reputation, boosted last month by leading Western Sydney Wanderers to the Asian Champions League.

Glenn Hoddle

The former England boss reportedly turned down the chance to speak to Crystal Palace in August, having only recently become a coach at QPR. Hoddle was believed to be on a three-man shortlist to replace Pulis, along with Sherwood and Malky Mackay.

Chris Hughton

Out of work since being sacked by Norwich in April, the former Newcastle and Birmingham is amongst the bookmakers' favourites to replace Warnock. Hughton guided the Canaries to 11th in the Premier League in the 2012/13 season.

Tony Pulis

Just 134 days after leaving the club by mutual consent, could Pulis be returning to Selhurst Park? The bookies certainly seem to think there is a chance and it would certainly appear a wise appointment. Pulis won the Premier League's manager of the year award last season after impressively steering the club to safety.

Toby ready to tackle Costa threat

SOUTHAMPTON'S Toby Alderweireld began 2014 playing alongside Diego Costa and ends it trying to shackle a player he believes is one of the best in the world.

This has been quite the year for the 25-year-old, having made the loan move to Saints fresh from helping Belgium to the World Cup quarter-finals and Atletico Madrid shock the football world.

Alderweireld was part of the Los Colchoneros side which won a first Primera Division title in 18 years and came off the bench in the Champions League final, where rivals Real Madrid cruelly denied them a famous double.

It took extra time for Real to eventually triumph, and things could have been so different had star man Costa not been forced off just nine minutes into what proved his last match for Atletico.

The bustling forward moved to Chelsea in the summer and has so far justified his £32 million price tag, with the Boxing Day strike against West Ham making it 13 goals from his first 15 Premier League matches.

Alderweireld faces the unenviable task of attempting to stop Costa adding to that tally on Sunday, with the defender well aware of the threat his former team-mate poses.

"It is very difficult because he is fast, he is strong, he has technique," he said.

"He can score goals, is good with his head, so I have to be at my best to stop him."

Costa is not the only threat Alderweireld knows all too well about, having this year also played alongside Eden Hazard, Thibaut Courtois and Filipe Luis.

"They are the best players in the world, especially Diego and Eden Hazard," he said. "We have to be at our top to beat them."

Despite that, he says Southampton will head into the match brimming with confidence after continuing their impressive resurgence at Selhurst Park.

Fresh from ending their worst losing streak of the 21st century against Everton, Ronald Koeman's men triumphed 3-1 against Crystal Palace thanks to goals from Sadio Mane, Ryan Bertrand and Alderweireld.

"It's the best feeling, even for a defender," the latter said after his first Premier League goal. "I am very, very pleased that I could help the team and after we made it 3-0 it was over, I think."

"It is always difficult to win here and play here, especially over the Christmas period."

"They need the points and we knew that before, but I think we played very good, defensively it was fantastic and in important moments we killed the game."

"It is very important after a couple of difficult weeks to win again."

"They were two difficult games, Everton and now here at Crystal Palace, but we got six out of six points, made six goals and conceded one. We are getting our confidence back."

GOAL: Winchester's Chris Mason, centre, heads home against Alresford Town.

Trio return for win

A TRIO of former Alresford Town players returned to their old Arlebury Park haunts to score and guide Winchester City to a 4-2 win over the Magpies in today's Sydenham Wessex League lunchtime derby, writes MIKE VIMPANY.

Zac Glasspool, Stuart Green and Warren Bentley all hit the target as fourth-placed Winchester twice came from behind to run out comfortable winners against a tiring Alresford side.

Alresford sparked a lively first half by taking a second-minute lead – Dan Fox powering home a header off the upright from a left-wing Tom Donaldson cross.

Winchester equalised midway through the opening period when Glasspool broke the Alresford off-side trap to level with a well-taken goal.

Five minutes before the break Alresford were back in front. Sam Carter flighted an inch perfect free kick into the City area and Andy Turner ran in to power a header into the roof of the net.

Alresford's lead lasted only a few minutes.

Soon after Glasspool wasted a good chance, City restored parity – a goalmouth scramble from a scuffed free kick culminated in Bentley hitting the upright and Stuart Green tapping in the rebound.

Winchester took the lead for the first time early in the second half – Taz Roberts the architect as City top scorer Bentley made it 3-2 to the visitors.

For an hour it remained an evenly contested affair, but as the game wore on Alresford visibly tired.

The Magpies had strong appeals for a penalty turned down when a powerful Dave Stanbrook shot appeared to strike a Winchester arm.

Winchester wrapped it up when substitute Chris Mason came off the bench to score with a 70th minute header from Bentley's left-side cross.

Porchester goals flurry

AFC Portchester scored three times in five mid-first-half minutes before sending their relegation-threatened Sydenham Wessex League neighbours Fareham Town crashing to a 5-0 defeat at Wicor, writes Mike Vimpamy.

Craig Hardy, Andy Rinomhota and Jamie Musselwhite, from the penalty spot, scored in successive Portchester attacks.

Goalkeeper Luke Douglas pulled off a series of fine fingertip saves to save Fareham from further embarrassment, but even the over-worked stopper was unable to prevent Hardy completing a maiden SWL hat-trick with two late goals.

Sholing 2 AFC Totton 1

Gosney, back with Totton after a spell with Gosport Borough, played most of the match on the left flank.

But it was a winger at the beginning of his career who scored the crucial first goal.

Within a minute of replacing Tobi Adekunle, who had only been on for 20 minutes in place of the injured Nick Watts, Walklin fired in the crisply-struck opener on hour.

Walklin's first touch found the bottom of the far corner after Dan Mason had crossed from the right.

And in the 75th minute Barry Mason secured all three points when he powered in a near-post header from Kevin Brewster's corner.

Totton were given an 87th-minute lifeline when defender Stuart Mott – in his first game back at Sholing since leaving earlier this season – was brought down in the penalty area.

Craig Feeney made no mistake from the spot, sending Lee Webber the wrong way for his 15th goal of the season.

Cue a tense finale. Totton left-back Andrew Bridge twice went close from distance and with the final kick of the match substitute Ellis White fired over a glorious chance to equalise following Kyle O'Brien's free-kick.

Nathaniel Sherborne twice went close at the beginning of the first half, firing over the bar and then hitting it, while strike partner Feeney sent a cushioned volley just beyond the far post.

But Sholing deserved the three points.

Dan Mason had a volley well saved by Steve Mowthorpe and had another chance to open the scoring after brother Byron had seized on a slip by former teammate Mott.

Byron Mason missed a golden chance of his own just before half-time, a one-on-one with Mowthorpe who saved well before Adekunle's follow-up shot was blocked.

Despite the missed opportunities, Sholing returned to winning ways thanks to two goals in the last half-hour in front of a season's best Silverlake Arena crowd of 309.

Thinking Retirement... Think Churchill.

“Since she’s been living in her new Churchill Retirement Living apartment, it seems to have taken years off her! I’ve not seen her so happy for such a long time – we’ve all noticed it.

Mum’s always laughing and joking with Elaine downstairs - and it’s so good to know that she’s now close by and will be joining us for Christmas.”
